NORTH CAROLINA ACADEMY OF REAL ESTATE CHANGES OWNERSHIP

July 1, 2008 marks the new ownership of the NC Academy of Real Estate. Barbara Crites established the Academy in 1986 and has trained thousands of students in real estate practices during the 22 years the Academy has been in existence.

With her husband, Robert Miller, she also offered continuing education to all local REALTORS® for many years. Barbara Crites will remain with the NC Academy of Real Estate as the local director and instructor during the transition.

The new owners also own and operate Alpha College of Real Estate in Chesapeake, VA. Real estate classes will resume in August with the Broker Pre-licensing class beginning August 27th. The phone numbers will remain the same 441-4135 for local calls, toll free at 800-987-1124 or browse the website at www.NCAcademyOfRealEstate.com. Online registration will be available soon. The classroom, located at Pirates Quay Shopping Center in Nags Head at MP 11.5, has had a summer facelift.

The new owners look forward to a continuing real estate education relationship with the Outer Banks Association of REALTORS®, and all licensed brokers on the Outer Banks and in the surrounding areas, as well as aspiring real estate professionals.
